400 Attend Field Day On Beiseker Farm

A field day and club rally sponsored by the District Agricultural Service Board of M. D. of Kneehill and the Beiseker and District Board of Trade was held on July 16th on the farm of Matt Schmalts, two miles north of Beiseker.

Miss Ruth Murray, district home economist, Edmonton, spoke to the ladies on the subject of "How to make your kitchen dream come true."

George Ramsay, head gardener of the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, conducted a tour of Mrs. Matt Schmalts' wonderful garden while giving his lecture on horticulture. At the conclusion of his lecture he gave Mrs. Schmalts an award for the best garden observed by him on his lecturing tour.

L. M. Silcox of the dairy branch used the modern milk house, barn and milking equipment of Matt Schmalts for his lecture on dairying and the poultry raising facilities, which are of the finest in Alberta, for his lecture on poultry raising.

J. G. Umbrite, field supervisor of the M.D. of Kneehill demonstrated two chemical spray rigs for the chemical control of weeds.

The test plots supervised by N. F. Bell, Drumheller, on the farm of Val Schmalts, were visited by all those interested in forage crops where the lecture on that subject was conducted by Mr. Bell and a lecture on cereal grains was given by H. F. Irvin, field supervisor of Starland M.D.

There was a special program for junior club members and was attended by members of clubs from Beiseker, Acme, Grainger, Level Land, Sunnyslope and Carbon.

In the grain judging competition the awards won were Neida Gimbel, 1st; Donnie Heuther 2nd; Vernie Schmalts and Balster Schmalts tied for 3rd place and Donnie Buyer 4th.

In the flower identification competition Della Heuther was first; Neida Gimbel, second; Margie Leisha, third; Raymond Schwartzberger, fourth.

A complete line of modern hay making equipment consisting of power mower, side delivery rake and combined hydraulic hay sweeps and stacker was demonstrated in a wonderful field of brome, created wheat and alfalfa mixture.

The day was attended by approximately 400 people from the surrounding districts. The rally also had its races in which many kiddies participated.

Legion Notes

A very successful meeting was held on Monday, July 21 in the Legion Hall. The Saturday night dances are doing fairly well and the Legion members thank the people for their patronage.

A social evening will be held in the Legion Hall on Wed., July 30 at 8 p.m. for Legion members and their family and members of the I.O.E. Ladies please bring lunch.

Veterans, join your Legion now. Regular meetings will be held the third Monday of each month.

Ready Money
FOR THE GO-AHEAD FARMER

He wanted to pay the Bank
A BONUS!

June 20th—John J. Veroba of Lampman, Sask., applied to the Bank of Montreal for a loan of $2,000 to purchase a threshing combine. His proposition was sound . . . and the loan was made.

John Veroba's new machine was delivered on June 25th. Ten days later, with his own crops still four weeks from harvesting, he set out for Sharon Springs, Kansas. With his new combine he worked for the farmers there and in the neighbouring communities for one month to the day.

In the meantime his own crops were ripening. Early in August he turned northward to Lampman, and on his arrival, August 11th, immediately remitted to us the full $2,000 he had borrowed. His work had given him back the entire purchase price of his combine!

The total interest charge was $12.60. So pleased was this customer to possess his own combine free of all debt, and to commence his own harvesting with a happy and easy mind, that he wished to pay the Bank of Montreal a bonus to mark his appreciation.

The Bank, of course, declined the bonus, but is gladly accepting the expression of John Veroba's thanks in the form of his permission to tell his story in this advertisement.

This case is typical of the assistance which the Bank of Montreal is extending to go-ahead farmers and demonstrates how it makes true its promise: "When you ask for a loan at the B of M, you do not ask a favour."

If you need money, see your nearest B of M manager today. Ask for a copy of our farm loan folder: "Quiz for a Go-Ahead Farmer."

An Example To The World

DURING THE RECENT VISIT OF President Truman to this country attention was again drawn to the fact that the nations of the North American continent have set an example to the world in the way in which they have lived in peace with each other for more than a century. In his address before the Canadian Parliament the President of the United States expressed the belief that with patience and diligence other nations could learn to live side by side in the same harmony as exists on this continent. In these days when there is so much talk of dissension among nations, it is well to remember that there are no reasons for believing that the enduring peace which has been maintained among the neighboring nations in North America, could not be someday achieved throughout the entire world.

Should Continue To Co-operate

The enviable record which has been established here brings with it responsibilities in world leadership during these difficult days. President Truman pointed out that a great deal had been accomplished during the war, through the co-operation of Canada and the United States, working together for a common purpose, and he suggested that we should continue to work together in the interests of permanent world peace. In this connection he said: "One of the most effective contributions which our two countries can make to the cause of the United Nations is the diligent effort to apply on a global scale the principles and practices which we have tested with success on this continent."

Subject Is A Timely One

It must be admitted that the problems here have perhaps been less difficult than those which must be dealt with in other parts of the world. The people of the United States and of Canada have for a large part, much the same racial origins, and speak the same language. These factors have no doubt played a part in making possible the peaceful attitude which exists among the people of both countries. It would be unfair, however, to say that no effort or planning has been required to keep the peace along the thousands of miles of our great international boundary. The cordial relations which exist between the people of Canada and of the United States stand as an example of what could be accomplished on a world-wide scale, and it was timely indeed, that President Truman should have so forcefully pointed it out when he visited this country.

NO COUPONS FOR LION

When discharged, and with the help of the Department of Veterans Affairs, she went to dramatic school in New York. She is considering using Liz Miller as a stage name.

All-Canadian Scout Jamboree Planned

MONTREAL.—Preliminary plans are being laid by the Canadian General Council of the Boy Scouts Association for an all-Canadian boy scout jamboree in 1949, the first such Dominion-wide event in Canadian scouting history.

The council, at its quarterly meeting presided over by R. C. Stevenson of Montreal and attended by executive members from across Canada, decided to ask each province to review the preliminary plans for the national scout meet and to present their views.

Maj.-Gen. D. C. Spry, chief executive commissioner for the Canadian Scout Council, presented a progress report on implementation of "plan opportunity", a scheme of general development and expansion of the scouting movement in Canada.

Australia Depends On Close Tie With U.S.

SYDNEY, Australia.—A peaceful future for Australia depends on close co-operation with the United States as well as with the United Kingdom, Prime Minister Chifley said at the annual conference of the New South Wales Labor Party.

The Prime Minister said Australia no longer can rely for her defence on the United Kingdom, whose economic position requires a "greater role of the Dominions in maintenance of world stability."

His Majesty Has No Building Priority

LONDON.—The King ranks with plain John Citizen when it comes to obtaining hard-to-get building materials.

Builders for the Royal Household applied to the Ministry of Works for a licence to obtain concrete needed to complete work on a new oil-burning heating system for Buckingham Palace. But they will have to wait their turn.

A Ministry official said: "There is a shortage of concrete and this work will have to take its turn with other non-priority applications. The King would rank with John Citizen in his application for supplies."

Plan New Towers For Forest Service

VICTORIA.—The British Columbia Forest Service plans new observation towers on Menzies Mountain, near Sayward on Vancouver Island, and at Elk Falls.

The towers are still in the planning stage, but because of present difficulties in obtaining proper materials no definite date can be set for construction.

U.S. ARMY "TOO SMALL", SAYS CHIEF

MIAMI, Fla.—The present strength of the U.S. army is only 10 divisions as compared with 300 divisions for Russia and her European satellites, Lt. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army information chief, revealed.

In an urgent plea for universal military training, Collins told a national convention of the Reserve Officers association that "our forces in Europe today are so small that they could easily be overrun."

"We cannot man 4,000 aircraft today. The Russians have over 10,000. 'We can't deal in probabilities any longer,' Collins warned. 'That was one of the mistakes made prior to Pearl Harbor. People said the Japs couldn't attack us, but they did. Today other nations in the world are capable of attacking us. We must deal in capabilities and face the facts.'"

FEED GRAIN CEILING

OTTAWA.—The Prices Board announced the establishment of a price ceiling on the sale of bagged western feed grain and feed screenings which sold in Eastern Canada and said the action was aimed at maintaining "reasonable price levels."

FAN TANS are festive!

RECIPE

Add 1 envelope Royal Fast Rising Dry Yeast and 1 tsp sugar to 1 c. lukewarm water. Stir and let stand 10 minutes. Scald 1 c. milk, add 5 tbs. sugar; add 2 tsp. salt and cool to lukewarm. Add to yeast mixture. Add 3 c. sifted flour and beat until perfectly smooth. Add 4 tbs. melted shortening and 3 c. more sifted flour, or enough to make easily handled dough. Knead well. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours. Punch dough down in bowl and let rise again in warm place until nearly doubled in bulk, about 40 min. When light, roll out into rectangular sheet 1/2" thick. Brush with melted butter or shortening; cut into strips 1 1/2" wide. Pile 7 strips together; cut into piece 1 1/2" wide. Place inside up in greased muffin pans. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until light, about 1 hour. Bake in 400°F. oven for 20 minutes.

Tomorrow It May Be You

If you were suddenly faced with a situation where you could save someone's life if you gave your blood what would you do? In reality this situation faces you this minute, for somewhere in Canada there is someone dying for lack of blood -- blood which you can give painlessly and without discomfort to yourself.

It may be a little child broken and crushed as it played on the streets, it may be a young mother whose life is in jeopardy after childbirth, or a workman injured in a plant accident. It may be your neighbor who is at death's door, or a member of your own family, but it is a fellow Canadian Tomorrow it may be you!

The Canadian Red Cross is setting up in Alberta a new peacetime blood transfusion service. Mobile units will move out from central clinics. They will visit your community. The clinics and mobile units will be the sole sources of life-giving blood to whoever needs it entirely free of charge.

To carry out this great humanitarian work the Red Cross needs your help, it needs you as a voluntary blood donor. If you have not yet registered, contact your local Red Cross Branch, tell them you will be glad to help save a life!

Preventing Farm Accidents (An Exhibit)

We are pleased to announce that The North-West Line Elevator Association will be represented at most of the larger fairs in Western Canada this summer by an outstanding agricultural exhibit. The main theme of this year's exhibit is one of vital importance to every prairie farmer—"Accident Prevention on the Farm."

The main part of the exhibit portrays, by means of an attractive and instructive mechanically operated scale model, the main causes of farm accidents. It includes a diagram of a farm house in cross-section, illustrating the more common fire and accident hazards in the home. This display will be of interest to every member of the family. Its chief aim is to help prevent farm accidents in Western Canada, and we have adopted as our motto, "Safety is Everybody's Business."

Although the central part of the exhibit deals with safety on the farm, the wing panels are used to show the important uses of these new and very promising agricultural chemicals "DDT" and "4-D." New and authoritative publications dealing with these new chemicals will be available at the exhibit booth.

A member of the technical staff of Line Elevators Farm Service will accompany the exhibit. He will be prepared to provide information on crop production problems and agricultural subjects of interest to prairie farmers, and on the work of this Department. In other words, he will be "At Your Service."

Don't fail to visit the Association's exhibit at one of the following points: Moose Jaw, June 30; July 3; Lethbridge, July 4-5; Calgary, July 7-12; Yorkton, July 14-16; Melfort, July 17-19; Lloydminster, July 21-23; Vermilion, July 24-26; Vegreville, July 28-30; Red Deer, July 31-Aug. 2; North Battleford, Aug. 4-6; Prince Albert, Aug. 7-9.

MOST OF US DON'T KNOW

Hardly anyone—not even the publisher—knows how important a newspaper is to a community.

The smaller the town or village, the more important the newspaper is in its economic life. Its news, editorials and feature stories focus the interest of surrounding territory on the place in which the paper is published.

This force and the force of advertisements by local merchants build an ever-widening trade area. This means more business, more money for schools, homes and churches—a bigger and better town.

A town with a newspaper is a town with a future. The better the paper, the brighter the future.

It deserves the support of every business man in that town.

We are trying to make this paper worthy of our town. Your help and suggestions are appreciated.

B. OF M. CROP REPORT

With the exception of the Peace River district, where a good general rain is needed, moisture conditions are satisfactory and crop prospects continue good. Early sown crops are coming into shot blade but warmer weather would be beneficial. Some slight scattered hail damage is reported. Pastures are good.

Sawfly Control Demands Prompt Cutting of Traps

By use of trap strips and their timely cutting, farmers in the sawfly area have saved thousands of bushels of grain. The purpose of the traps is to encourage egg laying in these earlier sown strips in preference to the main crop. If the trap strips are to serve efficiently however, they must be cut as soon as the sawfly flight is past. J. L. Eaglesham, supervisor of pest control, advises that in normal years the flight is usually over by July 15 but due to the lateness of the present season the flies may still be busy with their egg laying for a few days after that date.

Mr. Eaglesham says that the farmer himself is the best judge of the time to cut. Keep close watch on those traps around the middle of July. Check them around that time for the tell-tale saw dust in the stems, which shows that the eggs have been laid and hatched and the grubs are active. As soon as the sawfly flight is over the trap strips should be mown for hay or cultivated down. This cutting or cultivation is just as important as seeding the strips. If the grubs are allowed to mature in the traps by allowing the grain to stand until fall, a heavy infestation is built up for the following year.

Off the Record

A fashion report states that it is public opinion which is developing the new trend for more men to wear straw hats this summer. Yes, it shows which way the wind is blowing.

Erosion Control On Summerfallow

Water erosion is becoming more evident year after year, and signs of gulleying are often noticed first in the natural runways. Where this occurs in fields now under summerfallow steps can be taken to check the damage right now. The natural runways in that summerfallow field may become impassable gullies if cultivation is continued.

Here's what supervisor of soil conservation, H. J. Mather suggests:

1. That you seed those runways with the implement out of the ground when crossing the runway.

If this advice is followed fibre will be restored, erosion checked and the danger of a badly cut up field avoided.

2. That during subsequent cultivation of the field you raise ways down to grass.

During six years of war Canada had 94,000 war casualties and 170,000 street or highway accidents.

SNUG PERCH—Snugly perched in a lifebelt, Doris Baudouin, two, is shown as she arrived in New York on the liner Queen Elizabeth as she completed another leg of her journey from Paris to Arcadia, Calif. She is going to visit her grandparents.

TOWN PROTESTS LACK OF ATTENTION—Atikokan, 150 miles west of Port Arthur, claims it is being ignored by the provincial government. Milk costs 20 cents a quart, three cents more than at Port Arthur, but beer is the same price. The town, 1,300 population, has no fire department, no water or sewage system, no dentist and one doctor. Carol Sweeney's parents say milk bill is $5 weekly.

STANLEY ISN'T GLAD ANY MORE—If Stanley Glad's name was anything else he couldn't be less glad than he was when bandits left him like this, all tied up with neckties, after beating and gassing him. It happened at the Oriole Cleaners in Chicago when thugs raided the place and made off with a truckload of furs, one safe, intact, and the contents of another.

COUNTRESS JAILED—Convicted of collaboration with the Germans during the occupation of France, Countess Marie Tcherntcheff, shown here, was sentenced by the Paris special court to two years' imprisonment, fined 200,000 francs (about $2,000) and had one-third of her property confiscated. The Russian-born countess once was a model and film actress.

MISS SASKATOON—Named "Miss Saskatoon 1947" is beautiful Fay Cleveland. Last year she was scheduled to compete in intercollegiate beauty contest with British Columbia, but at last minute Saskatchewan entries were withdrawn.

SEE UNION WITH CANADA BRINGING BETTER DAYS—Depression days in Newfoundland saw families living in abject poverty. The war years brought a boom which still continues but residents fear even a minor drop in the price of fish could spell ruin to thousands who live in the island's

1,300 communities. Union with Canada, which is being recommended now, would bring $8,000,000 annually in family allowances to help children. Chairman of the Newfoundland delegation to Ottawa is Gordon Bradley.

TOURIST ASSOCIATION PICKS MISS BLUE WATER—Eileen Robillard, 18, of Elmvalle, has been chosen "Miss Blue Water, 1947" by the Ontario Tourist association. In addition Miss Robillard will receive $100.

HOLLAND WELCOMES THE TULIP SEASON—Holland's annual welcome to full-bloomed flower fields is typified by smiling Anneke De Jong of Haarlem, whose garlands are composed of several species of tulips.

FLAMES WIN BATTLE WITH SWEDISH FREIGHTER—Burning at sea, about 45 miles from the Bermuda coast, the Swedish freighter, Lena Brodin, is shown here. The vessel was abandoned after a 12-hour battle with the flames and towed into harbor when the fire burned out. All aboard were rescued.

NEW APPOINTMENT—Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, who has been appointed as chancellor of the University of Toronto. He will succeed Dr. H. J. Cody as chancellor for a term of three years.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

MOTH IN BARE FEET

By WALLACE H. CLAY

It wasn't a very bad morning-after, as mornings-after go. The little housekeeping noises from downstairs didn't jar particularly, and Ben Wilson felt that he might even go for some eggs and bacon—if there was any bacon. He smiled luxuriously at the thought of his five-day work week with its six-day take-home pay.

Plutocrat, he grunted contentedly, no less. Now, if only he could ring and have his coffee brought up. He toyed with the idea as being a very good one...

Coffee... That was what he had been looking for last night at the party. He shouldn't have gone along with the boys after the foremen's meeting was over; but, well... He began to backtrack through the evening in lazy, semiwakeful stages. Something bright, he remembered, like a flame. Something about cinders; not in his eye—or were they...

Well, of course! Harry's cousin, the unattached red-head that took the place over the moment she arrived. That suggested the analogy; the way that the gang crowded around her like a pack of moths. There used to be a song that went something like that... Men cluster to me like moths around a flame; and if their wings burn I know I'm not to blame." M-m-m, not much! Lucky he had a swell little wif. waiting home for him or he would have been like the rest of those jerks.

Harry had left early—something about a fishing trip—but Lucinda had said that she was a big girl now and that she was going to stay. Ben remembered kidding her about her name, calling her "Cindah", which, he explained with great elaboration, was cinder with a Boston accent. He thought that was very clever—last night. Finally he got around to wondering who had taken her home. He remembered vaguely of some sort of election, but he couldn't put his finger on what happened from there on out.

"Caesar's Ghost!" Ben was abruptly fully awake and sitting up. He stared about the room. He distinctly remembered one thing, and that was placing his coat and shirt on a chair, but where were they now?

His bare feet hit the floor with a splat. Why, oh why, in his cups, had he overlooked that great Truth: That no matter how perfect a woman's coiffure, the odds are heavy on it shedding at the wrong time. Trudy, his wife, was a decided brunette—there was no "out" in that direction.

A quick search of the clothes closet confirmed the worst. Keys, billfold and miscellaneous junk were piled on the dresser but there was no evidence of the suit he had worn. That left but one thing to do. Get the habeas corpus of corpus delicti or whatever you called the fatal object.

Ben slipped into a pair of slacks and sport shirt and headed for the stairs. Halfway down he slowed his pace; stopped. It wouldn't do to just go barging in and demand the coat without a reason; a casual reason. And if she knew! Ah, if she knew, the reason would play no part of it.

The swinging door leading to the kitchen let out a creak. Trudy Wilson put on her best wifely smile. "Did I wake you up? I let you sleep late because—Ben, what's ailing you? You're green!"

She let the door swing shut and walked to the foot of the stairs. Ben spurred himself into a sort of Zom-bie shuffle and headed for the kitchen with Trudy close behind.

The coffee was black and hot. Trudy was cheerful, almost solicitous. It just could be that there was nothing wrong after all. The thought brought him up with a jerk. He took a deep breath:

"That dark grey coat I had on last night—what happened to it? I think I left some papers in it."

"I don't think you did, honey. I emptied the pockets and brought it down to put a press in it this morning. But after—well, I mean I think it had better go to the cleaners..." She left the words hanging on the edge of her coffee cup.

Ben choked and almost seared his throat. Good grief! So all this had been her delightful little way of softening him up for the final skull cracking.

Okay, if it's gotta go, it's gotta go—but where is it?"

"In the hall closet—no wait, dear!! Finish your coffee, won't you? You're not going anywhere looking like that!" Trudy half rose, but Ben had shoved back his chair and barged out of the room.

He groped for the light switch. The coat was in plain view and a quick once-over afforded no trace of strawberry blonde hair or any other signs of the previous evening's foray.

GIRL FROM WINNIPEG GETS MOVIE CONTRACT—Lucky queen and pretty, too, is Audrey Saunders, Winnipeg girl, now living in Los Angeles, Calif. Chosen "Movie Queen" in a contest, she was offered a movie contract and promptly signed for a screen test and a part in a forthcoming Hollywood production.

Ben sighed in relief. His honor was saved, and Trudy, grand little pal, had been on the level all the time. She probably had made that crack just to see what he'd say—and he, like a sap... oh, well.

He was just turning to make a gallant return to the kitchen when a peculiar scent touched his nostrils. He sniffed. There was something alien about it that didn't belong in the Wilson household. Certainly nothing that Trudy used.

The newly acquired strength trickled down into his bare toes and disappeared into the equally bare floor. Perfume! The coat was reeking with the stuff! His eyes darted, seeking a hiding place either for the coat or himself; it didn't matter which.

He had just grabbed the offending garment from the hanger when the kitchen door let out a warning squeak. This is it, opined Ben grimly. He was caught with his corpus delicti down.

Gently Trudy took the coat from his damp fingers. Hesitantly she held the shoulder of it under his nose.

"You smell that?" she asked simply.

"How could I miss?" he breathed.

"You might just as well—"

"Now don't get mad, Ben," Trudy Wilson stopped her husband with a tiptoe kiss. "It's nothing that the cleaners can't remove, if you'll just wait. I spilled the whole bottle of that new smelly moth repellent when I was trying to put a few drops on the light bulb up there."

"You know," she added defensively, "moths go crazy around a light—or a flame. Ben!..."

"Hush, child, and let me kiss you," Ben said a moment later. "I don't know how your moths can even stand to get near that stuff; it's potent!"

"I hope so," murmured Trudy. "There's a big one around here somewhere that I really wanted to get."

"Was a big one," corrected her husband, and as she looked up quizzically, he added, "He's been singed, seared and purified—you won't have any more trouble from him. You know, out like a light—or a flame. Like this."

And suiting the action to words, he found the pull-cord with his free hand and the closet was dark again. (Copyright Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate)

JAM MARGUERITES

These bits of rosy stuff are fit for a goddess!

- 1 egg white
- ½ cup tart red jam
- 2 drops lemon extract
- ¼ cup chopped nut meats
- 24 salted crackers

Beat egg white until stiff; add jam gradually and beat with rotary egg beater until thoroughly blended. Add flavoring and 1 tablespoon nuts.

Place a tablespoon of mixture on each cracker, sprinkle with the remaining nuts, and bake in hot oven (400 deg. F.) 10 minutes, or until delicately browned. Makes 24 marguerites.

ADVICE TO MEN—WIVES NEED A HOLIDAY

MALVERN, Worcestershire, England.—All wives are entitled to a holiday if more modern marriages are not to break down, Rev. H. J. Freilensener told married members of his parish.

"My advice to the men," he said, "is to take their wives away to the seaside for a holiday and if necessary sacrifice their cigarettes in order to get there. It is better than fobbing her off with a visit to the pictures."

FEED GRAIN FROM WEST NEEDED TO FEED CATTLE IN THE EAST

OTTAWA. — Larger quantities of feed grain from western Canada will be required in the east this year because of the backward season here, officials of the farm statistics branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said.

The outlook for oats and barley in Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and the east generally is none too good as a result of continued rains which have made seeding impossible. If the eastern provinces are to maintain their butter and livestock production throughout the winter, a supply of western grain will be essential.

Even if the western provinces have an average good crop and are able to spare feed grains for the east, the eastern farmer will be up against the problem of transportation which last fall prevented the maximum shipment of feed grains.

Shipments of feed grains have to compete with the shipment of grains destined for overseas which get a shipping priority. Thus, it is pointed out, transportation is a major factor in the movement of feed grains to eastern Canada from the west.

According to the statistics branch, everything points to a good crop in the west this year. Warm weather is needed now however. Situation in the east, on the other hand, is definitely unfavorable.

Africa Buys Buses Made At Fort William

FORT WILLIAM.—More than 100 buses manufactured in the Fort William plant of Canadian Car and Foundry Company are to be delivered to the Union of South Africa in a transaction estimated to be worth $2,000,000, it was announced.

The South African Government has chosen 114 of the gasoline-driven buses of the inter-city type of its state-operated transportation system.
